

MEMORANDUM

From: Frank Hill
To: OBF CUTC Revisions Subcommittee
Subject: Chair's 5-8-2023 Status Report

This report covers actions of our subcommittee taken during our last (virtual) meeting on 4/12/2023, as well as revisions made and contributions received in preparation for our next (virtual) meeting on 5/10/2023.

Much of our work has been in rev tst [Form 350], will [Form 361], and Appx A - Gen and Adm Prov - Notes on Use extracts (and in specific numbered paragraph selections taken from them). When parallel paragraph reference numbers are given below, the first one will be to the rev tst [Form 350] extract and the second one will be to the will [Form 361] extract. Within all extracts,

- BLACK typeface: Original text as it currently exists in the Orange Book Forms (or in a contributor's proposal);
- GREEN typeface: Approved changes made to that original text by the subcommittee; and
- RED typeface: Proposed changes suggested to be made to original text or our prior work.

Education Definition Note on Use

During our 12/14/22 meeting, we decided to (i) delete the definition of "Education" from the General Provisions article of both the Form 350 rev tst and the Form 361 Will, and (ii) replace that with a single Note on Use addressing the topic keyed to the provisions of the Family Trust article in each document which address discretionary distributions for HEMS purposes.

During our 3/8/23 meeting, we reviewed Corina's edited revision of her and Gene's collaborative work product and we generally liked it. Since Bette was suggesting some further tweakings, Corina and Bette took it back to refine and resubmit. During our 4/12/23 meeting, we approved (with some minor edits) their latest effort which was distributed with the Chair's 4/11/23 Status Report.

Now see the final approved version appearing as Note on Use 10 in [\[Extract\] Appx A_Gen and Adm Prov_Notes on Use \(2023-05-07\).pdf](#), attached. You can also see the Family Trust provisions of both the rev tst form and the will form where we are suggesting that our new Note on Use 10 be referenced in the attached Fm 350 Education NoU Reference Points.pdf and Fm 361 Education NoU Reference Points.pdf.

Rev Tsts: Remove, Amend, Revoke "Sole" or "Exclusive" Method

2.5 & 2.6 Removal/Amendment/Revocation: After considering, deliberating, and debating Mike's scholarly proposal on this issue over the course of several months, during our 12/14/22 meeting, as a matter of policy, we decided not to adopt a "sole" or "exclusive" method which the settlor would be required to employ to remove property from the trust or to revoke the trust.

However, Marianne reported that at the Heckerling conference in early January, Turney Berry made a presentation supporting the "sole" or "exclusive" revocation and removal requirement. In view of that, during our 3/8/23 meeting, we revisited this issue and we reaffirmed our prior position not to adopt a "sole" or "exclusive" method which the settlor would be required to employ to remove property from the trust or to amend or revoke the trust. But, we also decided to include a Note on Use discussing the issue and perhaps suggesting some language previously proffered by Mike, who graciously agreed to convert his prior submissions into a new Note on Use for these provisions which could be inserted into Appx A, Gen & Adm Prov. Bette graciously offered to collaborate with Mike on this project.

As of the time of the distribution of this status report, the attached proposed draft Note on Use has been received from Mike and Bette: 2.5-2.6 Remove Amend Revoke NoU_MDH_BH \(2023-05-08\).docx.

Trust Amendments: Trustee's "consent" required, or only "notice to"

2.6 Amendment and Revocation: Form 350 says, at ¶ 2.6 Amendment and Revocation: Settlor reserves for settlor's lifetime the following powers which settlor may exercise at any time or times:

- a) ...
- b) Upon trustee's consent, to amend the trust, in whole or in part, by a writing; and ...

Marianne expressed concern that a requirement of action by another to allow settlor to amend might risk the view that the trust was irrevocable.

During our 3/8/23 meeting, after quite a considerable amount of discussion, consensus seemed to be forming around the combined idea that (i) all amendments would be effective upon settlor's execution, but (ii) trustee should be given limited time to object to, opt out of, or veto any amendment that expanded trustee's duties, liability, or affected trustee's compensation.

Then, during our 4/12/23 meeting, it appeared that collectively we all were beginning to have second thoughts and reservations about what we had come up with in the prior month:

- Bette suggested that we might be able to avoid the administrative problems of the second clause if we just limited the settlor's unilateral amendment right to the instrument's "dispositive provisions," say, just adding/changing beneficiaries.
- Mike pointed out that while adding/changing beneficiaries may seem like a "simple change to dispositive provisions" on the surface, it can be a significant burden on the trustee who may now have to shift gears on its investment strategy on the trust's portfolio to meet the now-different needs of the new array of beneficiaries.
- Mike and Bette also queried as to what would be the legal effect of an amendment objected to or voided by the trustee on the 89th day of a 90-day window if given to the trustee as a time limit. Would amendments be in legal "Limbo" until the 90 days expired? What would be the legal status of actions taken affected by the amendments during that period if objected to by the trustee?
- Alison opined that such a provision, like a right of first refusal, might require inclusion of several additional cumbersome provisions spelling out administrative mechanics to make trustee's objection/opt-out/veto effective.

Most subcommittee members seemed to be getting the feeling that their prior consensus "solution" was not particularly workable. So, in our desperation we've turned to Corina, Marianne, and Michelle hoping that they, in their collective wisdom, could come up with a relatively simple straightforward method of allowing a settlor to amend his/her rev tst w/o requiring trustee consent to be effective.

After nearly five months of the subcommittee's intense discussion on nearly every aspect of this issue, the Chair is left with the gut feeling that Corina's original suggestion wasn't that bad after all. There's something simple and clean about:

Settlor may amend this agreement in whole or in part by a writing delivered to trustee.
However, trustee is not bound by an amendment that affects trustee's duties, liability, or compensation without trustee's consent.

While perhaps not perfect, at least this seems to say that settlor's unilateral amendment is nearly universally effective; in limited circumstances, the only party not bound is the trustee.

When trustee communicates its dissatisfaction with an amendment that affects its duties, liability, or compensation, settlor and trustee can discuss settlor's willingness to tailor the offending amendment to meet trustee's objection, or trustee can offer to step aside to accommodate a successor willing to live with the settlor's position on the amendment.

But if settlor dies soon after executing the amendment, he/she can go to their final rest knowing their wishes vis-à-vis third parties at least will be given effect.

SNT Conforming Amendments

Our colleagues over in the Supplemental Needs Trust (SNT) Subcommittee has been laboring for many months creating an example Drop-in SNT for Form 531 • Will with Contingent Trust (Couple) that will allow the beneficiary to qualify for public assistance. In that process, they have determined that, regardless of how carefully crafted the example Drop-in SNT may be, certain old boilerplate provisions contained in Form 351 may operate to disqualify the beneficiary from qualifying for public assistance.

Apparently, the offending boilerplate provisions are:

- Distribution to Incapacitated Persons or Persons Under 21
- Consolidation of Trusts
- Early Termination

I alerted our SNT colleagues that those provisions are not unique to Form 531; they appear in nearly every will and trust form in Orange Book Forms (including our Form 361 Will and Form 350 rev tst), I extended our subcommittee's willingness to assist since we have been working on will and trust boilerplate provisions many of which have been either directly or indirectly affected by CUTC, and suggested that they not be worked on in a vacuum as though they were concerned with only one form but should be updated with our collaboration for all affected will and trust forms across the board.

Single Signature Problem

15.11 & 9.13 Custody: During our 9/14/22 mtg, we approved the inclusion of the definition of "Professional fiduciary" as it appears in C.R.S. § 15-23-103(14). See ¶¶ 16.13 and 11.12 in the "General Provisions" articles in the 10/11/22 extracts of the rev tst and will forms attached.

In addition, during our 9/14/22 mtg, we decided to use that new term in the first sentence, which is the only sentence actually addressing "custody."

The second sentence addresses signature authority and, as written now conflicts with our existing 15.9 & 9.11 Single Signature Facility which, in the absence of a written delegation agreement among cotrustees, gives a professional fiduciary single signature authority only over the trust's bank account.

After Carolyn brought this issue to the attention of Lauren Da Cunha and Margot Edwards of J. P. Morgan Trust, they were good enough to share their thoughts with us.

So, during our December meeting, we considered Lauren's and Margot's suggestion that the conflict existing between our new Single Signature Facility provision (Form 350 Rev Tst ¶ 15.9) and the old existing Custody provision (Form 350 Rev Tst ¶ 15.11) could be resolved simply by expanding the scope of the type of "accounts" professional fiduciaries would automatically be given single signature authority over (under ¶ 15.9) upon taking office as cofiduciary. Instead of receiving automatic authority over only the trust's depository account, under a revised ¶ 15.9, the professional fiduciary's automatic single signature authority would instead graduate to all the trust's accounts at banks and other financial institutions.

Despite a certain reticence among some of our members to expand this authority in the absence of a delegation agreement, most of our members seemed to recognize both the practicality and the historical custom of this slightly expanded facility being granted to professional fiduciaries.

During our December meeting, we decided that substantively, ¶ 15.9 would be revised to expand the automatic single signature authority of professional fiduciaries to include all the trust's accounts at banks and other financial institutions.

So, during our last meeting on 2/8/23, we reviewed and discussed what was then the latest suggestion, 15.9-9.11 Single Signature Facility_WIP \(2022-12-22\).docx, attached.

Admittedly the chair was so taken aback by the lukewarm response of the subcommittee to the foregoing proposal that he is not quite sure of which approach to a final solution the subcommittee chose (senility must be setting in). I recall you're favoring wholesale deletion of a significant portion of the offering, so I have come up with an Option A version and an Option B version. Please clarify for the chair which more accurately reflects your choice, and what additional revisions, if any, are desired.

So, please see, 15.9-9.11 Single Signature Facility_Opt A \(2022-02-08\).docx, and 15.9-9.11 Single Signature Facility_Opt B \(2022-12-08\).docx, attached.

Exoneration Loose End

14.4 & 8.3 Liability of Trustee; Beneficiary Rights: During our 2/9/22 meeting, Carl had submitted a suggested Note on Use to be a repository for the statutory citations which had previously been in the text of these paragraphs. Upon the subcommittee's review, Carl said he would try to "flesh out" the naked citations in the Note on Use with some brief explanatory text, and perhaps add a comment on the last sentence of subparagraph (a) which is a change to the common law on the issue. (The draft Note on Use we considered during that meeting is attached to and discussed in the Chair's 2/8/22 Status Report [an email].)

"First Tier" QBs and "First Tier Plus" QBs Loose Ends

15.12 & 9.14 Release of Powers: Because the Chair's use of extracts, this provision was inadvertently overlooked in previous months in the flurry of discussion about giving notice to the qualified beneficiaries or just to First Tier and First Tier Plus qualified beneficiaries. During our 9/14/22 mtg, we approved the proposed revision to ¶ 15.12 in the 9/12/22 extract of the rev tst, except that we also decided to delete the rest of the first sentence after ", or if none ...," as well as the entire last sentence. See the final version in the 10/11/22 extract of the rev tst, attached.

Also, during our 9/14/22 mtg, we approved the exact same changes to be made to ¶ 9.14 in the 9/12/22 extract of the will form. However, we also decided not to change the reference in the will version from "fiduciary" to "trustee," but to leave it as is. See the final version in the 10/11/22 extract of the will form, attached.

Also, Alison opined that perhaps a Note on Use regarding the tax implications of this provision may be appropriate, so she volunteered to compose one for us.

"Professional Fiduciary" definition, and its Ramifications

16.13 & 11.12 Professional fiduciary: During our 9/14/22 mtg, we approved the inclusion of the definition of "Professional fiduciary" as it appears in C.R.S. § 15-23-103(14). See ¶¶ 16.13 and 11.12 in the "General Provisions" articles in the 10/11/22 extracts of the rev tst and will forms attached.

14.3 & 8.2 Designation of Additional Trustee: During our 9/14/22 mtg, we decided to delete references to any type of trustee. See updated versions of these paragraphs in the 10/11/22 extracts of the rev tst and will forms attached.

14.5 & 8.4 Rights of Successor Trustee: During our 9/14/22 mtg, we decided to delete references to any type of trustee in the first sentence. Furthermore, we decided not only to use the new term in the second sentence, but also to retain the second sentence lest succeeding to the trust business of a professional trustee through purchase, merger, whatever be regarded as an event triggering a move down to the next successor trustee. See updated versions of these paragraphs in the 10/11/22 extracts of the rev tst and will forms attached.

14.8 & 8.7 Replacement of Trustee: During our 9/14/22 mtg, we decided to delete the last sentence entirely, eliminating the need to describe any type of trustee in the paragraph. See updated versions of these paragraphs in the 10/11/22 extracts of the rev tst and will forms attached.

9.17 Ancillary Fiduciary: We ran out of time before we could get to this one. We need to either approve use of our new term in the second sentence, or simply delete the second sentence as we have done with so many of these paragraphs above, on the grounds that it is not necessary to describe any type of fiduciary to be an ancillary PR.

Important Clean Up as the End of This Project Begins to Appear in the Distance

Clean-Up #1: “Appoint” vs. “Designate”: Throughout our rev tst form and our will form, when speaking of naming someone to act for the trust, we currently rather inconsistently interchange the terms “appoint” and “designate.” But in CUTC, there is no such inconsistency. CUTC uses:

“Appoint” Always used when an actor (be it settlor, testator, another trustee, court, or authorized beneficiaries) is naming someone to act for the trust as trustee, successor trustee, or additional trustee. (Never “designate.”)

“Designate” Always used in the past tense when referring to someone who has been named in an instrument (will, agreement, terms of the trust, court order) as trustee, successor trustee, or additional trustee to act for the trust. (Never “appointed.”)

I suggest that we should be scrupulously consistent with the use of these terms in our rev tst and will forms, and also be consistent with CUTC’s use of those terms (follow CUTC’s lead). Accordingly, please see these suggested revisions in the 10/11/22 rev tst and will extracts:

14.1 & 6.4	Designation of Successor Trustee
14.3 & 8.2	Designation of Additional Trustee
14.8 & 8.7	Replacement of Trustee

In Future Months

In past recent meetings, yours truly simply ran out of time (and knew that you all would have run out of patience with me) to continue with the list of clean-ups still crying out for our attention. So, I won’t go into them in detail, here, just list them so you’ll know where I think we should be headed:

Clean-Up #2: “Act” vs. “Serve”:

Clean-Up #3: “Record” vs. “Writing”:

Clean-Up #4: “Trustee” vs. “Then-acting Trustee”:

Clean-Up #5: Remove repetitive insertions of “Trustee’s Duty to Inquire” boilerplate language from numerous provisions in dispositive articles, in favor of singular inclusion in “boilerplate” article.

Clean-Up #6: Restructure & Reorganize Administrative Articles:

Clean-Up #7: Plain English vs. Legalese:

Stay tuned as, together, we continue to bring CUTC’s improvements and best practices to the administrative articles of our OBF will and trust forms.

8.2 DISTRIBUTION OF INCOME AND PRINCIPAL: Trustee shall distribute to or apply for the benefit of settlor's spouse and settlor's descendants as much of the net income and principal of the Family Trust as trustee deems necessary or advisable for their health, education, support, or maintenance; provided, however, that no distribution of income or principal shall be made to settlor's children which would operate to discharge or relieve settlor's spouse of any legal obligation the spouse may have to support settlor's children. Any net income of the Family Trust not so distributed shall be accumulated and added to principal.

8.3 DISCRETIONARY GUIDELINES: In making discretionary distributions hereunder, trustee should bear in mind that settlor's primary concern and objective is to provide for the well-being of settlor's spouse and settlor's descendants, and the preservation of principal is not as important as the accomplishment of this objective. Trustee shall, at all times, give primary consideration to the needs of settlor's spouse, and secondary consideration to those of settlor's descendants, when exercising its discretion with respect to distributions of principal and income under this article. Trustee shall consider all circumstances relevant to the administration of the trust, including, but not limited to: (a) financial and other resources of the beneficiary which are outside the trust and are known to or are readily ascertainable by trustee; and (b) the failure by a beneficiary to provide requested information. Trustee may make distributions to or for the benefit of one or more of the beneficiaries of the Family Trust to the complete exclusion of the others, and in equal or unequal proportions, according to their respective needs as those needs arise. Any distribution to or for a beneficiary shall be charged to the Family Trust as a whole rather than against the share ultimately distributable to such beneficiary or those taking through such beneficiary upon termination of the Family Trust. In making distributions of principal to settlor's spouse, consideration should be given to making all such distributions of principal from the Marital Trust, until it is exhausted, and preferably thereafter from the Family Trust.

9.2 COMMON TRUST FOR DESCENDANTS: If any then-living child of settlor has neither attained the age of 23 years nor received a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university, the balance of the trust property shall be retained by trustee upon the following terms:

- a) Income and Principal: Trustee shall distribute to or apply for the benefit of settlor's descendants as much of the net income and principal of the trust as is necessary or advisable for their health, education, support, or maintenance. Trustee shall consider all circumstances relevant to the administration of the trust, including, but not limited to: (a) financial and other resources of the beneficiary which are outside the trust and are known to or are readily ascertainable by trustee; and (b) the failure by a beneficiary to provide requested information. Any net income of the trust not so distributed shall be accumulated and added to principal. Trustee may make distributions to or for the benefit of one or more of the beneficiaries to the complete exclusion of others, and in equal or unequal proportions, according to their respective needs as those needs arise.
- b) Provision for Indirect Child Care: Trustee may also make distributions for the personal use and benefit of any person with whom a child of settlor may be residing in order to ease the financial burden upon such person resulting from the responsibility which they have assumed in caring for such child.
- c) Special Purpose Distributions: Without intending to limit the discretion of trustee in making distributions, settlor suggests that trustee be liberal in exercising such discretion so as to give assistance to settlor's children in purchasing homes, in establishing or purchasing businesses or professional practices, or for any other unusual or emergency expense which trustee deems to be in the best interests of such children. All such discretionary distributions for special purposes should take into

- a) Income and Principal: Trustee, in its discretion, may distribute to or apply for the benefit of the child and the descendants of the child as much of the net income and principal of the child's trust as is necessary or advisable for his or her health, education, support, or maintenance. Trustee shall consider all circumstances relevant to the administration of the trust, including, but not limited to: (a) financial and other resources of the beneficiary which are outside the trust and are known to or are readily ascertainable by trustee; and (b) the failure by a beneficiary to provide requested information. Any net income of the child's trust not so distributed shall be accumulated and added to principal.
- b) Distribution Guidelines: Trustee shall, at all times, give primary consideration to the needs of the child, and secondary consideration to those of the descendants of the child, when exercising its discretion with respect to distributions of principal and income from the child's trust. Without intending to limit the discretion of trustee in making distributions, settlor suggests that trustee be liberal in exercising such discretion so as to give assistance to the child for whom the trust is held in purchasing a home, in purchasing a business or establishing a professional practice, or for any other unusual or emergency expense which trustee deems to be in the best interests of the child. All discretionary distributions by trustee should take into consideration the probable future needs of the child. Trustee shall have no duty to consider the needs of the descendants of the child but may consider the descendants' needs in its sole discretion. Trustee shall have no duty to distribute any income or principal to descendants of the child during the lifetime of the child. The preservation of principal is not as important as the accomplishment of these objectives.

9.13 CUSTODY: Whenever a ~~corporate fiduciary is serving, such corporate fiduciary professional fiduciary is acting as personal representative or trustee,~~ the professional fiduciary shall be the custodian of my estate and trust property and of the books and records of my estate or trust. ~~It may perform all ministerial acts necessary for the acquisition and transfer of personal property and money, including the signing and endorsement of checks, receipts, stock certificates, and other instruments. No person need inquire into the propriety of any such act.~~

9.14 RELEASE OF POWERS: Any fiduciary may release in whole or in part, temporarily or permanently, any power, authority, or discretion conferred by my will or trust by a writing delivered to any cofiduciary and to ~~each beneficiary then eligible to receive income distributions from any trust~~ the distributees and permissible distributees of trust income or principal, and to other qualified beneficiaries who have sent the trustee a request for notice, ~~or, if none, to all ascertainable beneficiaries. Such renunciation or release shall not affect the grant of power, authority, or discretion renounced or released.~~

~~9.15 REPORTS: My trustee shall report no less frequently than annually to all adult beneficiaries and to the parents of any minor beneficiaries then eligible to receive current income, all the receipts, disbursements, and distributions during the reporting period, and property then held as the principal of the trust. 9.15 TRUSTEE'S DUTIES TO INFORM AND TO NOTIFY:

- a) My trustee shall keep the ~~qualified beneficiaries of the trust~~ distributees and permissible distributees of trust income or principal, and other qualified beneficiaries who ~~request it~~ have sent the trustee a request for notice, reasonably informed about the administration of the trust and of the material facts necessary

- for them to protect their interests [§ 813(1)].
- b) Within 60 days after accepting the trusteeship, my trustee shall notify the qualified beneficiaries of:
- i) My identity as settlor of the trust [§ 813(2)(c)];

 - vi) Their right to request reports as provided in paragraph 9.16 (Trustee's Duties to Report and to Respond) of this article [§ 813(2)(c)], [§ 105(2)(h)].
- c) My trustee shall notify the ~~qualified beneficiaries~~ distributees and permissible distributees of trust income or principal, and other qualified beneficiaries who ~~request it~~ have sent the trustee a request for notice, in advance of any change in the method or rate of my trustee's compensation [§ 813(2)(d)].

See Appx A Note on Use 25B

9.16 TRUSTEE'S DUTIES TO REPORT AND TO RESPOND:

- a) At least annually and at the termination of the trust, my trustee shall send to the distributees or permissible distributees of trust income or principal, and to other qualified beneficiaries who request it [§ 813(3)(a)], [§ 105(2)(i)], a report containing:
- i) A list of the assets comprising the property of the trust, and if feasible, their respective market values [§ 813(3)(a)(I)], [§ 813(3)(a)(II)];
 - ii) The liabilities of the trust, if any [§ 813(3)(a)(I)];
 - iii) The trust's receipts and disbursements during the period covered by the report [§ 813(3)(a)(I)]; and
 - iv) The amount and source of my trustee's compensation [§ 813(3)(a)(I)].
- b) If no cotrustee remains in office upon the occurrence of a vacancy in the trusteeship, my former trustee shall send a report as described in paragraph 9.16(a) of this article to the ~~qualified beneficiaries~~ distributees and permissible distributees of trust income or principal, and to other qualified beneficiaries who request it. Should my former trustee be deceased or incapacitated, my former trustee's legal representative may send the report [§ 813(3)(b)].

- c) Upon request of a qualified beneficiary, my trustee shall:
 - i) Respond promptly with information related to the administration of the trust, unless unreasonable under the circumstances [§ 813(1)], [§ 105(2)(i)]; and

9.17 ANCILLARY FIDUCIARY: In the event ancillary administration shall be required or desired and my domiciliary personal representative is unable or unwilling to act as an ancillary fiduciary, my domiciliary personal representative shall have the power to designate, compensate, and remove the ancillary fiduciary. The ancillary fiduciary may ~~either be a natural person or a corporation~~ be an individual or a professional fiduciary. My domiciliary personal representative may delegate to such ancillary fiduciary such powers granted to my original personal representative as my personal representative may deem proper, including the right to serve without bond or surety on bond. The net proceeds of the ancillary estate shall be paid over to the domiciliary personal representative.

11.6 EDUCATION: Under this instrument, distributions for education may, in the trustee's discretion, include the cost of tuition, fees, books, supplies, living expenses, and travel, to the extent they are reasonable. The term "education" means:

- a) Study or instruction at, or under the auspices of, an accredited educational institution (the term "accredited educational institution" means a public or private elementary or secondary school; a college or university granting undergraduate or graduate degrees; or a trade school or other institution for specialized, vocational, or professional training; if such school, college, university, trade school, or other institution provides an academic curriculum, employs a full-time faculty, offers classes electronically or on a campus, and enjoys a currently effective accreditation from a generally recognized accreditation board); and
- b) Study or instruction which the trustee, in its discretion, considers appropriate for a beneficiary who has special needs or abilities which are not likely to be served by an accredited educational institution.

11.7 FIDUCIARY: As used in this instrument, "fiduciary" means an original, additional, or successor personal representative, conservator, agent, or trustee.

11.11 LEGAL REPRESENTATIVE: As used in this instrument, “legal representative” includes an individual’s attorney-in-fact acting under a durable power of attorney, a conservator of the individual’s estate, an individual’s guardian, a personal representative, executor, or administrator of the individual’s decedent’s estate, or any other form of legal representative, depending upon the context in which the term occurs.

11.12 PROFESSIONAL FIDUCIARY: As used in this instrument, “professional fiduciary” means an individual or entity that is in the business of acting as a fiduciary.

See Appx A Note on Use 20A

11.13 QUALIFIED BENEFICIARY: As used in any trust under this instrument, “qualified beneficiary” means a person who:

- a) has a present or future beneficial interest in the trust, vested or contingent, or, holds a power of appointment over property of the trust in a capacity other than that of trustee, and who;
- b) on the date the beneficiary’s qualification is determined:
 - i) is a distributee or permissible distributee of trust income or principal;
 - ii) would be a distributee or permissible distributee of trust income or principal if the interests of other distributees or permissible distributees then receiving or eligible to receive distributions of trust income or principal terminated on that date without causing the trust to terminate; or
 - iii) would be a distributee or permissible distributee of trust income or principal if the trust terminated on that date.

As used in this paragraph, “person” does not include an appointee under a power of appointment unless and until the power is exercised and my trustee has knowledge of the exercise and the identity of the appointee.

11.15 TRUSTEE: As used in this instrument, “trustee” includes an original, additional, and

Notes on Use

- A) ACCEPTING OR DECLINING TRUSTEESHIP: The Colorado Uniform Trust Code (C.R.S. § 15-5-701) contains the default for acceptance of the trusteeship. The terms of the trust may specify different method(s) to accept or decline. However, if a method to accept or decline is intended to be exclusive, it must be expressed in language manifesting the intent that the acceptance or declination may not be by any other method (e.g., “sole,” “exclusive,” “only”).

- 2) ~~APPOINTMENT OF COTRUSTEE OR SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEE: The practitioner should consider the inclusion of the substitute trustee provision to provide flexibility in handling assets of the trust that require special expertise in handling, such as oil and gas leases or other mineral interests. A clause which allows the appointment of a substitute trustee would also be useful in the case where trust assets include environmentally tainted real property. Many corporate trustees and individual trustees will refuse to accept the appointment as trustee if they must hold real property which may be subject to EPA action. A clause allowing a substitute trustee to hold the tainted assets or the appointment of a substitute trustee to hold the non-tainted assets may be helpful in persuading reluctant trustees.~~

~~In addition, the ability to appoint a substitute trustee or cotrustee is useful in the case where the original trustee may trigger an income or estate taxable event through the exercise of trustee discretion. By the use of a substitute trustee or cotrustee, and a renunciation of the power by the original trustee, the original trustee could be protected from such tax liability.~~

~~Finally, corporate trustees who utilize pooled funds which are regulated by the Comptroller of the Currency Reg. 9 cannot use these pooled funds in customer account unless the corporate trustee is serving in a fiduciary capacity. The ability to appoint a cotrustee would allow the utilization of corporate trustee pooled funds without the necessity of a court appointment as cotrustee.~~

- 2) DESIGNATION OF ADDITIONAL TRUSTEE: The practitioner should consider including the additional trustee provision to provide flexibility in handling trust assets which require special expertise, such as oil and gas leases or other mineral interests. Or consider providing for the designation of an additional trustee to handle property over which the trustee is unable or unwilling to act, such as real property located in another state or jurisdiction. A clause that allows the appointment of an additional trustee would also be useful where trust assets include environmentally tainted real property. Many trustees will refuse to accept appointment as trustee if they must hold tainted real property. A clause allowing an additional trustee to hold either the tainted assets or the non-tainted assets may be helpful in persuading reluctant trustees.

The practitioner should consider clearly specifying the additional trustee’s duties and powers in the designating document. Also, the document could specify a method for the acceptance and resignation of the additional trustee.

If the designating document specifies that the additional trustee is only to report to and inform the designating trustee, the document should also specify that the designating trustee remains responsible for all of the trustee's regular duties to report to and inform the beneficiaries, including as to the activities of the additional trustee.

Generally, any time there is more than one trustee, each trustee has fiduciary duties to use reasonable care to prevent another trustee from committing a breach of trust and to seek redress if a trustee commits a breach. C.R.S. § 15-5-703(7). Under the Colorado Uniform Directed Trust Act, the terms of the trust may relieve a trustee from these duties to the same extent that the terms of a directed trust may relieve the directed trustee from liability for acts of a trust director. C.R.S. § 15-16-812. Because an additional trustee is relieved from these duties only as provided by the terms of the trust or of the delegating instrument, the drafter should consider whether to include express language to that effect in the terms of the trust or in the delegating instrument.

C.R.S. § 15-5-802(9) allows a court to appoint a special fiduciary to make a decision about a proposed transaction which might violate the trustee's duty of loyalty. Provision in the will or trust which allows the trustee to designate an additional trustee to handle the transaction may eliminate the need for court involvement under this statute.

- 3A) COMPENSATION: Compensation of personal representatives, guardians, and trustees in Colorado is subject to the Compensation and Cost Recovery Act, C.R.S. § 15-10-601, et seq. Under the Colorado Uniform Trust Code, if the terms of a trust specify the trustee's compensation, the trustee is entitled to be compensated as specified, but the court still retains the power to adjust that compensation if it determines such compensation is unreasonably high or low. See C.R.S. §§ 15-5-708(2) and 15-5-105(1)(g).

- 6) DELEGATION and MAJORITY CONTROL: The practitioner should note that common law requires a unanimous vote of cotrustees while the Colorado Probate Code defaults to the same for personal corepresentatives under C.R.S. § 15-12-717. The Majority Controls and Delegation clauses are offered for the practitioner's consideration to promote efficiency in handling conflicts between fiduciaries. This approach is contrary to common law and the inclusion of these provisions should only be made after due consideration of the overall effect. To develop an understanding of matters of liability of the delegating fiduciary, see C.R.S. § 15-12-717, and Scott on Trusts, §§ 171-171.4, 194, and 224.2.

When only two fiduciaries are serving, their joinder is required for them to act. Should they be unable to reach agreement, they may, if appropriate under the circumstances, delegate the decision to an agent. Alternatively, the practitioner may choose to draft a provision in the instrument that addresses a deadlock circumstance. Options may include designating a third party to break the deadlock – such as a trust protector – or by including language either suggesting or requiring the fiduciaries to seek some form of alternative dispute resolution such as mediation or arbitration. See, C.R.S. § 15-1-804(2)(x) for personal representatives, and

C.R.S. §§ 15-5-807 and 113 for trustees. See also, the Colorado Dispute Resolution Act, C.R.S. § 13-22-301, et seq.

- 10) ~~EDUCATION: This paragraph defines the term “education.” The committee considers inclusion of a provision defining education to be optional with the drafter, while generally desirable. At least one professional fiduciary has commented favorably on the additional clarity such a definition brings to administration of trusts. The focus of the form is a settlor who might prefer more latitude in the exercise of discretion by the trustee—a settlor who would expect the trustee to look favorably upon requests by beneficiaries for reimbursement of expenses associated with nontraditional forms of education if the trustee believed them to be in the beneficiaries’ best interests. Alternatively, for more conservative settlors whose preferences might lean toward limiting educational assistance to expenses derived from course work under the auspices of “accredited educational institutions,” the drafter might consider substituting the following language:~~

~~EDUCATION: Under this [instrument] [agreement], distributions for education may, in the trustee’s discretion, include the cost of tuition, fees, books supplies, living expenses and travel to the extent they are reasonable. The term “education” means study or instruction at, or under the auspices of, an accredited educational institution. The term “accredited educational institution” means a public or private elementary or secondary school; a college or university granting undergraduate or graduate degrees; or a trade school or other institution for specialized, vocational, or professional training; if such school, college, university, trade school, or other institution provides an academic curriculum, employs a full time faculty, offers classes on a campus, and enjoys a currently effective accreditation from a generally recognized accreditation board.~~

- 10) EDUCATION: The purpose of this note on use is to examine possible definitions of “education” as pertains to the “ascertainable standards” of health, education, maintenance, and support (HEMS). The Orange Book Forms themselves do not currently include specific definitions of these standards because guidance to the trustee in exercising discretion around distributions heavily depends on client intent. Although “an express standard is not required to enable a court to impose a general standard of reasonableness,” including guidance in the trust instrument can be of great assistance to the trustee and reduce the potential for conflict. See Edward C. Halbach, Jr., “Problems of Discretion in Discretionary Trusts,” 61 Colum. L. Rev. 1424, 1434 (1961). Such guidance may take the form of a statement of client intent, definitions, or illustrations/examples. Practitioners may also want to be mindful of preserving sufficient flexibility for the trustee to respond to unanticipated changes in circumstances, while maintaining consistency with client preferences.

A number of articles have been published explaining the use of the HEMS standards, and many of them provide sample language. A good example is Christian S. Kelso's "Get HEMS Straight: Tailor the Right Distribution Standard," 42 Est. Plan. 3 (2015).

With respect to the definition of education, the following examples represent a range of possible approaches.

Example 1: This definition takes a traditional approach to education (i.e., through an accredited educational institution) but with an out for beneficiaries for whom that would not be appropriate. Note that (a) and (b) are mutually exclusive by their terms, allowing access to a non-traditional education only upon determination that a traditional education would not serve the particular beneficiary.

EDUCATION: Distributions for education may, in trustee's discretion, include the cost of tuition, fees, books, supplies, computers and other equipment, living expenses, and travel, to the extent they are reasonable. The term "education" means:

- a) Study or instruction at, or under the auspices of, an institution that enjoys a currently effective accreditation from a generally recognized accreditation board, such as: a public or private elementary or secondary school; a college or university granting undergraduate or graduate degrees; or a trade school or other institution for specialized, vocational, or professional training; and
- b) Study or instruction that trustee, in its discretion, determines to be appropriate for a beneficiary who has needs or abilities which are not likely to be served by an accredited educational institution.

Example 2: This definition provides more flexibility than Example 1, as it does not make traditional and non-traditional education an "either/or" proposition. It also provides a broad set of options without being too specific.

EDUCATION: "Education" includes all expenses of public and private education at any level, including graduate or professional education and specialized or vocational training, such as tuition, room and board, books, fees, materials, computers and other equipment, dues, and a reasonable travel allowance. Further, education is not to be limited to traditional learning environments but may include other forms of learning that the trustee determines is more appropriate for the particular beneficiary and can include the expenses itemized above. The trustee shall have the discretion to determine the reasonableness and the scope of all educational costs.

Example 3: This definition is the most specific, while preserving a wide range of options.

EDUCATION: Education is intended to be an ascertainable standard under I.R.C. §§ 2041 and 2514 and includes: (a) elementary, junior, and senior high school programs, including enrollment in public or private school, boarding school, homeschool, and online or virtual school; (b) undergraduate and graduate study in any field at a college or university; (c) specialized, vocational, or professional training or instruction at any institution, as well as private instruction, internship, or apprenticeship; (d) any other program that trustee, in its discretion, considers useful for developing a beneficiary's abilities and interests including athletic training and instruction in the arts; (e) study or instruction that trustee, in its discretion, considers appropriate for a beneficiary who has needs or abilities that are best supported outside of traditional programs. The term education also includes expenses such as tuition, room and board, fees, books, supplies, computers and other equipment, tutoring, transportation and travel, and a reasonable allowance for living expenses.

Note, if the client desires, practitioners may also include limits on the beneficiary's age (e.g., educational expenses up to age 30) or dollar amounts (e.g., educational expenses up to a cumulative total of $100,000 for any one beneficiary).

- 17A) NO BOND: Under the Colorado Uniform Trust Code the court retains the power to require, dispense with, modify or terminate any bond, notwithstanding the terms of a will or trust directing otherwise. See C.R.S. §§ 15-5-105(1)(f) and 15-5-702.

- 18) OTHER DEFINITIONS: This provision incorporates definitions in the Colorado Probate Code, the Colorado Uniform Trust Code regarding trust provisions of the instrument, and the Colorado Uniform Powers of Appointment Act with regard to powers of appointment "as any are amended after the date of this instrument and after my death." ~~The practitioner should be aware that UPC II changed certain definitions. See C.R.S. § 15-10-201.~~

- 20A) QUALIFIED BENEFICIARY: The term "qualified beneficiary" appears throughout the Colorado Uniform Trust Code (CUTC) and was adopted directly from the Uniform Trust Code (UTC). The purpose of establishing the category is to distinguish between beneficiaries to whom the trustee has a duty to report and those beneficiaries who are remote and contingent, and whom the trustee, even with reasonable efforts, may have difficulty identifying. Generally, those remote and contingent beneficiaries have been categorized as "nonqualified beneficiaries." Though the UTC does not define a nonqualified beneficiary, the term is occasionally used in the text of some UTC provisions. This provision was crafted by combining the substance of CUTC § 103(4) with that of CUTC § 103(16).

As mandated by CUTC § 5-105(2)(h), a trustee must notify, under CUTC § 5-813(2)(b) and (2)(c), all qualified beneficiaries of the existence of the trust, the identity of the trustee, and of their right to request a copy of the trustee's annual report. Also, as mandated under CUTC § 5-105(2)(i), a trustee must respond, under CUTC § 5-813(1), to a qualified beneficiary's request for trustee's reports and other information reasonably related to the administration of the trust.

Recognizing that the pool of "qualified beneficiaries" could be impractically large, practitioners need to be aware then that, other than the statutorily-mandated notices cited above, Orange Book Forms try to moderate the burden on trustees by providing that (i) notice to beneficiaries who have the right to notice and to take action is strictly limited to "the distributees and permissible distributees of trust income and principal," while (ii) notice to beneficiaries who only have the right to notice (incl. to be "notified," for "information," and to be "kept informed") is limited to "the distributees and permissible distributees of trust income and principal, and other qualified beneficiaries who have sent the trustee a request for notice."

- 22) REMOVAL OF TRUSTEE and REPLACEMENT OF TRUSTEE: The power to remove a trustee, for whatever reason, can be an important way to provide flexibility, but may have tax implications. The regulations under I.R.C. §§ 2036 and 2038 provide that, if the decedent has the unrestricted right to remove a trustee and appoint himself or herself as successor trustee, the decedent is considered to have the powers of the trustee. Treas. Reg. §§ 20.2036-1(b)(3) and 20.2038-1(a)(3). The regulations do not specifically address the result if the decedent ~~can~~ has the power to remove and replace the trustee, ~~but may not appoint himself or herself as the successor trustee.~~

Following the tax court's decisions in Estate of Wall v. Commissioner, 101 T.C. 300 (1993) and also Estate of Vak v. Commissioner, 973 F.2d 1409 (8th Cir. 1992) it has been settled that the settlor can retain the power to remove and replace the trustee. However if the settlor appoints himself as the successor trustee the trust will likely be included in the settlor's estate. Also see Rev. Rul. 95-58, 1995-2 C.B. 191 which provides that a settlor who possesses the power to remove the trustee can also have the power to appoint a successor trustee, who is not a related or subordinate party, as defined in I.R.C. § 672(c).

If the trust document provides that the beneficiary may remove and replace the trustee, the IRS has indicated in Ltr. Rul. 9607008 that it will apply the same standard to beneficiary powers as those applied to trustees. That is, if the beneficiary may only appoint a trustee who is not a related or subordinate party, then the beneficiary will not be treated as having the powers of the trustee for purposes of applying I.R.C. § 2041.

~~In Rev. Rul. 79-353, 1979-2 C.B. 325, the settlor of a funded irrevocable trust retained the power to remove the corporate trustee and to substitute another corporate trustee. The settlor could not appoint himself as trustee. The trustee had broad discretion to distribute trust income and principal among the settlor's children. The IRS ruled that the settlor's power to remove and replace the corporate trustee was tantamount to the settlor's directly retaining all of the~~ trustee's powers. Under the facts of the ruling, those powers were broad, the trust was therefore includible in the settlor's gross estate under I.R.C. §§ 2036 and 2038. Rev. Rul. 79-353 does not apply, however, to a transfer or addition to a trust made before October 29, 1979 (the publication date of Rev. Rul. 79-353), if the trust was irrevocable on October 28, 1979. Rev. Rul. 81-51, 1981-1 C.B. 458.

In the opinion of most estate planners, Rev. Rul. 79-353 was wrong. Nevertheless, the ruling raised serious questions about whether a settlor should retain the right to remove and replace a trustee. In addition, the IRS took the position in letter rulings that the theory of Rev. Rul. 79-353 also applied in the context of I.R.C. §§ 2041 and 2042. That is, if a beneficiary had the right to remove and replace a trustee, the beneficiary would be deemed to have the powers of the trustee. Therefore, the beneficiary would have a general power of appointment over the trust unless the trustee's discretion to distribute to the beneficiary was limited by an ascertainable standard relating to the beneficiary's health, education, support, or maintenance. See Note on Use 17 and Ltr. Ruls. 8916032 and 8926066. Similarly, if the insured settlor of an irrevocable life insurance trust retained both the right to remove and to replace trustees, the insured settlor would be deemed to have the powers of the trustee, and therefore to have incidents of ownership in the life insurance policies held in the trust, causing estate taxation under I.R.C. § 2042(2). TAM 8922003.

The IRS's position in Rev. Rul. 79-353 was addressed by the tax court in Estate of Wall v. Commissioner, 101 T.C. 300 (1993). See also Estate of Vak v. Commissioner, 973 F.2d 1409 (8th Cir. 1992). In Wall, as in Rev. Rul. 79-353, the taxpayer created an irrevocable trust and retained the right to remove the trustee and appoint a successor, but the successor had to be a corporate trustee. The court found the IRS's position in Rev. Rul. 79-353 to be "supported neither by cogent argument nor by cited cases supporting the conclusion reached," refused to follow the Revenue Ruling, and held that the trust was not includible in the decedent's gross estate because of her retained power to change trustees. In response to Wall, the IRS finally reversed its position, and issued Rev. Rul. 95-58, 1995-2 C.B. 191. That ruling revoked Revenue Rulings 79-353 and 81-51, and adopted the position that a settlor who possesses the power to remove the trustee and appoint a successor trustee who is not a related or subordinate party, as defined in I.R.C. § 672(e), will not be treated as possessing the discretionary powers of the trustee. The use of the "related or subordinate party" standard is curious, in that I.R.C. § 672(e), which defines this term, is an income tax section, not an estate tax section, and the IRS does not explain why that standard of independence should be used in this context. The IRS will apparently continue to take the position that the settlor should be treated as having the discretionary powers of the trustee if the settlor can remove the trustee and appoint a trustee other than the settlor, if the replacement trustee could be a related or subordinate party.

Rev. Rul. 95-58 does not deal with the issue of whether a trust beneficiary who has the power to change trustees will be treated as having the powers of the trustee, and therefore possibly having a general power of appointment. However, the logic of Wall should apply in that context as well, and the IRS has indicated in Ltr. Rul. 9607008 that it will apply the same standard to beneficiary powers to change trustees. That is, if the beneficiary may only appoint a trustee who is not a related or subordinate party, then the beneficiary will not be treated as having the powers of the trustee for purposes of applying I.R.C. § 2041.

~~Rev. Rul. 95-58 also does not deal with the issue of whether, if the settlor of an irrevocable life insurance trust retains both the power to remove and to replace the trustee, the settlor will be deemed to have incidents of ownership in the life insurance policies held in the trust under I.R.C. § 2042. Again, the logic of Wall would seem to apply in this context, but there is not yet even a letter ruling applying the approach of Rev. Rul. 95-58 in the context of I.R.C. § 2042. Until there is some indication that the IRS will take the same approach for purposes of I.R.C. § 2042 as it does for purposes of I.R.C. §§ 2036 and 2038, it may be prudent not to give the settlor of an irrevocable life insurance trust both the power to remove and to replace trustees.~~

~~In view of the foregoing analysis of relevant authorities, it appears that generally in an irrevocable trust setting, the settlor's retention of power to remove a trustee should not run the risk of having the trust's assets be deemed to be included in the settlor's estate, while the settlor's retention of a power to replace a trustee would be fraught with much greater uncertainty and attendant risk. Accordingly, in the forms the process of changing trustees has been bifurcated through the use of separate "Removal of Trustee" and "Replacement of Trustee" provisions. In the case of the irrevocable life insurance trusts, on the basis of trying to maintain some flexibility for the settlor within the latitude apparently permitted by the foregoing authorities, the "Removal of Trustee" provisions provide that the settlor retains the right to remove a trustee. However, in the "Replacement of Trustee" paragraphs, the language of those provisions only gives the power to replace a trustee to the beneficiaries. And, in the case of the Section 2503(c) Trust (Form 1610), neither the power to remove nor the power to replace a trustee has been included due at least in part to the additional uncertainty and perceived risk of the beneficiary being regarded as a settlor, should the trust be drafted to permit continuation after the beneficiary attains the age of 21 and elects not to terminate the trust. See Notes on Use 4 and 5 of Section 2503(c) Trust (Form 1610).~~

Because with few exceptions the trustee's discretion to make distributions is limited by ascertainable standards in these forms, a beneficiary having the powers to remove and to replace trustees should not create a problem. However, if the attorney using these forms changes the distribution provisions so as to eliminate the ascertainable standards, then the beneficiaries' powers to remove and to replace trustees should either be eliminated, or should be modified so as to fall within the safe harbor of Rev. Rul. 95-58, by requiring that the replacement trustee may not be a related or subordinate party. Of course, the client may, in some cases, want to restrict the choice of successor trustees for non-tax reasons as well.

If the instrument creating a trust does not contain trustee removal provisions, the Colorado Uniform Trust Code contains a section which provides qualified beneficiaries removal alternatives, all of which involve the court. See C.R.S. § 15-5-706. See also C. Eyster and C. Stevens, "The Colorado Uniform Trust Code," 48 Colo. Law. 36, 41 (March 2019).

- 22A) RESIGNATION: The 30-day notice is the default provision in the Colorado Uniform Trust Code. See C.R.S. § 15-5-705. The previous version of this provision provided that a resignation would be effective only upon the acceptance of appointment by a successor trustee. However, in most cases the occasion of a temporary vacancy would not be considered sufficient cause to require a trustee who wishes to resign to remain in office, especially since there are other events that may cause a temporary vacancy (e.g., death or incapacity of the trustee).

2.5-2.6 Remove Amend Revoke NoU_MDH_BH (2023-05-07)

Settlors of revocable living trusts can alter, amend, or revoke the trust in whole or in part. They can also direct the administration of trust funds. Some concern has been expressed that by dealing with trust assets without some degree of formality, an amendment or revocation, in whole or in part, of one's trust may accidentally occur, which could adversely affect a carefully devised estate plan. It has been asserted that a review of recent cases like In re Omega Trust, 175 N.H. 179, 281 A.3d 1281 (2022), and Baker v. Baker, 646 S.W.3d 397 (Ark. Ct. App. 2022), suggests that courts may be persuaded to hold that a trust has been amended by the actions of the settlor regarding the administration of trust assets, the veracity and posture of the parties involved, and perhaps even the equities of the conflict and entitlements bestowed or removed by the settlor's actions. A rational argument might be made that litigation will be fostered rather than resolved or avoided by loose standards establishing methods of revoking, altering, or amending revocable living trusts. [here cite Turney Berry's suggestion for sole and exclusive method?]

There has been suggestion that a revocable "living trust" is nothing more than a "will substitute," rendering a beneficiary's interest a "mere expectation" rather than a vested interest. Colorado case law has not adopted that notion. See e.g. Exchange National Bank v. Sparkman, 554 P.2d 1090 (Colo. 1976).

C.R.S. § 15-5-602(3) provides that a settlor may revoke or amend a revocable trust by substantial compliance with a method provided in the terms of the trust, or, if no such method is provided, by any other method manifesting by clear and convincing evidence the settlor's intent to constitute such a change. If a specific method of amendment or revocation provided for in a trust document, is referred to as the "sole", "exclusive", or "only" method of revoking or amending the trust or includes similar language manifesting such intent, the trust may not be revoked or amended by any other method.

The following provision is offered as a suggestion to require that alterations, amendments, or revocations occur only in writing:

AMENDMENT AND REVOCATION: Settlor reserves for settlor's lifetime the following powers which settlor may exercise at any time or times:

- a) To revoke the trust [only/solely/exclusively] by a writing; and
- b) Upon trustee's consent, to amend the trust, in whole or in part, [only/solely/exclusively] by a writing.

Corina has submitted the following language for our consideration, should we desire to move away from the trustee's consent being required for any amendment of the trust:

To restate or amend the trust, in whole or in part, by a signed writing delivered to trustee.
However, any change in the duties, liabilities, or compensation of trustee shall not be binding on trustee without consent of trustee.

Subject: Re: April CUTC Mtg Follow-up - Trust Amendment

Good afternoon,

Reading this email and the formal status report in detail, I tend to agree with Frank and my former self about where we are landing, with the following additional thoughts:

1. Without making "a writing delivered to trustee" the sole and exclusive method of amendment/revocation, the settlor could effectively make the change via a writing (or otherwise) that is never "delivered to" the trustee. In that event, the change would bind the trustee without their knowledge of it, at least to the (arguable) extent that it does not affect their duties, liabilities, or compensation. With the trustee being responsible for carrying out the terms of the trust, I personally do not like this result. For example, I am imagining the chaos that would ensue if the trustee makes distributions after the death of the settlor only to have someone discover an amendment changing the beneficiaries at the bottom of a box somewhere. In light of Turney Berry's wisdom about reducing the potential for confusion and conflict, as well as the squishy-ness of "duties, liabilities, and compensation" (perhaps covering this dispositive scenario), I would advocate having a sole and exclusive method in the form and explaining in the note on use that the drafter can take out the mandatory language to give settlor more flexibility, if they so desire. In essence, the opposite of what we have currently before us.
2. It is my understanding that the consent piece is not subject to the "sole and exclusive" conundrum. In other words, consent is required for a trustee to be bound, regardless of how the change is effected ("is not bound"). Considering a) the above-referenced squishy-ness concerning the scope of this provision and b) the fact that lack of consent could simply be an oversight on the part of the trustee, I think it makes sense to flip this to an objection. That is, make the trustee bound unless there is an objection, not unbound until there is consent. As long as the trustee knows of the change (see point #1 about the importance of sole/exclusive), they are bound by it unless they lodge an objection within a certain time period. The objection would not invalidate the change, but it would release the particular trustee from it from the point of objection on. Something like: "Trustee is not bound by an amendment that affects trustee's duties, liability, or compensation if trustee delivers a written objection to settlor within 30 days of the amendment." Then, the trustee and the settlor can work out any disputes over the amendment. But if there is no objection on file, there is no question that the amendment governs all parties, including the present trustee.
3. The following change should be made to the proffered Note on Use: "C.R.S. § 15-5-602(3) provides that a settlor may revoke or amend a revocable trust by substantial compliance with a method provided in the terms of the trust or, if no such method is provided, by any other method manifesting by clear and convincing evidence the settlor's intent to constitute such a change..." Other methods are allowed even if another method is provided, unless the provided method is made sole/exclusive (which the next sentence addresses).

Thanks for listening, all!
Corina
